Advanced Variant Configuration (AVC) in SAP is a high-performance, user-friendly solution designed to handle complex product configurations with enhanced efficiency. Leveraging SAP HANA's in-memory capabilities, AVC provides real-time processing and advanced features such as sophisticated dependency handling, multi-level configurations, and complex pricing models. Its intuitive interface improves usability, while its seamless integration with SAP S/4HANA ensures streamlined operations and consistency across various business processes. This makes AVC particularly beneficial for industries dealing with highly customizable products, enabling them to meet diverse customer requirements with greater flexibility and precision.
